

Prof. Giambattista Salinari

gsalinari@uniss.it

Associate Professor of Demography

Department of Economics and Business - University of Sassari

SHORT BIO

Giambattista Salinari is Associate Professor of Demography at the University of Sassari. He previously held research positions at the European University Institute and at the Department of Statistics "G. Parenti" in Florence. His main research interests lie in the study of mortality, with publications in leading demographic journals, including Demography.

CURRENT RESEARCH INTERESTS

Impact of the Great Recession and austerity policies on life expectancy trends, and the deceleration of life expectancy due to austerity measures.

SELECTED PUBLICATIONS & WPs

- Carboni, G., Salinari, G., De Santis, G., Benassi, F., 2024. Mortality evolution in Italy: the end of regional convergence? Genus 80, 28.
- Salinari, G., Benassi, F., Carboni, G., 2023. The Effect of the Great Recession on Italian Life Expectancy. Popul Res Policy Rev 42, 3.
- Salinari, G., Benassi, F., 2022. The long-term effect of the Great Recession on European mortality. J Popul Res (Canberra) 39, 417–439.

PHD SUPERVISOR

Gianni Carboni – XXXVI cycle – Post-doc at the University of Sassari.

Giuliana Freni – XXXVI cycle – Post-doc at the University of Parma.